

May 3rd, 2018 Meeting Report

The Annual Recruiter panel, comprised of Kurt Rakos, Paula Norbom, and Talley Flora, brought members up to date on several aspects of working with recruiters and their client companies. For example, job hunters should know that the relationship between the recruiter and their client companies is built on trust -- trust that the recruiter is finding the best talent available for their client, so that's why they'll "present" you to their client along with 2-3 other possible candidates.